

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5 An LSI comprises: a RAM for storing an intermediate code; a ROM for storing an interpreter execution program that is capable of interpreting the intermediate code; and a CPU for controlling execution of the interpreter execution program, wherein the RAM, the ROM, and the CPU are formed on one chip.

10051525 011802